TWO FREIGHTS MEET HEAD-ON

Engines Demolished and Cars
Smashed to Kindling in Big
Wreck Near Centre Mills. Train
Crews Escape Injury.

Two freights met in a head-on collision near Centre Mills Saturday afternoon about half past three o'clock completely demolishing the two engines and damaging ten cars, some of them being reduced to kindling. The crews of both trains jumped, escaping with minor injuries.

An investigation into the cause of the wreck is being made. The regular freight, engine 749, was coming from Harrisburg with orders to pass extra 765 with 28 cars and extra 760 a work train. A misunderstanding about the passing place evidently followed the two trains carrying engines with such similar numbers and the collision was the result.

The wreck took place on the curve near Centre Mills between the bridge crossing Possum Creek and that crossing Lousy Run. Trees obscured the view of both engineers and neither realized the other's approach until they were about two hundred feet apart. Both applied the emergency brakes, turned off all steam and, with their crews, jumped.

The engines struck with terrific impact and were both practically demolished. Cars were scattered about the track in great confusion, the wooden cars collapsing entirely. The collision occurred on a ten foot embankment and one car loaded with tobacco was tossed up in the air onto the telegraph wires which it pinned to the earth, stretching one and breaking another. This broke communication until parties cut them and joined them together with barbed wire fence.

Nothing could be found of a car which had been loaded with white newspaper bound for York. The paper had been shot out from the car on both sides and was strewn along the track. An empty steel gondola ploughed into a carload of fertilizer and had four pairs of trucks piled on it as neatly as though they had been loaded with a derrick.

The first news of the wreck was received in Gettysburg when agent John A. Cox was notified by Z. J. Peters, of Guernsey, by telephone. A relief train was summoned from Carlisle and a wreck train from Harrisburg. The four o'clock passenger train was held at Biglerville for a half hour before proceeding to the scene of the wreck where a transfer to the relief from Carlisle was made. The train carried a large number of Pennsylvania postmasters who were returning home from the convention.

The wreck train arrived about 5:45 and completed their work at two o'clock Sunday morning.

That the crews were not hurt seriously was due entirely to their jumping when it was seen that a collision was inevitable. Martin Smith, fireman of 749, had a badly sprained leg, and Luther Slentz, conductor, had a bone broken in his foot. All were badly shaken up but escaped with minor scratches and bruises.

The evening train Saturday was an hour and a half late, the passengers being transferred at the wreck and being brought to town by the train which left here at 4 o'clock.

BRIEF NOTES

Mrs. Detrick has returned to Washington after spending several days with Mr. and Mrs. Schriver on Chambersburg street.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Forney a son.

Charles S. Bream preached in St. Mark's Lutheran church, Steelton, on Sunday.

Miss Ruth Dean, of Middletown, Maryland, spent some time with Miss Hattie Ziegler last week.

The Misses Plumb, of Bridgeport, Connecticut, are guests at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Granville on the college campus.

Rev. Prof. Charles F. Sanders spent Sunday in Altoona, preaching in one of the Lutheran churches of that city.

RURAL NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Bollinger have returned to their home on route 18 after spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Weikert, of Waynesboro, and also visiting in Greencastle, Hagerstown and Williamsport, Md., and Martinsburg, W. Va., in company with Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Weikert.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Sharetts, of route 18, a daughter.

WANTED--girl or woman to do general housework--sleep at home. Answer by letter only to Mrs. Hugh M. McIlhenny, 430 Carlisle street.

TAFT WILL SEE SCOUTS JUNE 14

Gettysburg Boy Scouts will Leave
Town on Long Hike June Seventh and will Spend Several Days in the Capitol City.

Gettysburg's Boy Scouts will leave on Wednesday June 7, on a four days' hike to Washington where they will meet President Taft in the East Room of the White House at half past two Wednesday June 14. Rev. J. B. Baker received a letter this morning from Congressman Lefebvre stating that the necessary arrangements for this reception had been made.

Fully uniformed and equipped and led by Rev. Mr. Baker, who will act as scout master for the trip, the Scouts will leave Gettysburg at four o'clock on the morning of June 7. The first day's hike will be to Thurmont a distance of 18 miles; the second to Frederick, 16 miles; the third to Gaithersburg 23 miles; and the fourth to Washington 20 miles. They expect to arrive in the Capitol City late in the afternoon or early in the evening of Saturday the tenth.

Practically all the hiking will be done early in the morning or the cool of the evening. Each morning the haversacks will be filled and the eating will all be done out of doors. Arrangements are being made for the Scouts to sleep either in lodge halls or churches during the trip so that they will not be inconvenienced by inclement weather.

The length of time to be spent in Washington will be determined by the rapidity with which the boys see what there is to be seen. A trip to Mount Vernon has been arranged through Rufus Shands who has secured free transportation from Washington to that place. It is probable the boys will remain a full week in and about Washington. The return may be made by the same route as the trip down or will be by way of Baltimore.

The big event of the trip, of course, will be the reception to the Scouts by President Taft. They will take with them an authentic relic from the battle field which they will present to the Chief Executive, the presentation being made by the boy who secures the lucky lot which will be drawn shortly before reaching Washington. Rev. Mr. Baker will be with the thirty or thirty five Scouts during the entire trip and will have personal supervision over them at all times.

SELECT DATES AND SITES

A general order is being prepared by Adjutant General Stewart officially designating the sites and dates for the encampments of the four brigades of the National Guard. The sites, selected by the brigade commanders and approved, are as follows:--

The First Brigade, First, Second and Third Regiments will encamp at Mount Gretna, July 22 to 29.

The Second Brigade, Tenth, Sixteenth and Eighteenth Regiments, at Indiana, July 22 to 29.

The Third Brigade, Ninth, Twelfth and Thirteenth Regiments, at Selins Grove, July 22 to 29.

The Fourth Brigade, Fourth, Sixth and Eighth Regiments, at Mt. Gretna, July 8 to 15.

The auxiliary organizations were assigned to various brigades in orders recently issued.

RETURN FROM TRIP

The college base ball team returned from their three day trip. They lost to Susquehanna at Selinsgrove 1 to 0; played a three inning game at State when rain stopped the contest with the score 3 to 0 in favor of State; and lost to Bucknell 7 to 4.

The Gettysburg Freshmen defeated the Dickinson Freshmen on Nixon Field Saturday in a close game 6 to 5. The inter-class track meet Saturday was won by the Sophomores with a big margin. The large silver loving cup recently presented will have the numerals of that class, with the date of the meet, inscribed on the one side. Succeeding victorious classes will have their numerals recorded in the same way.

CARD OF THANKS

The children of the late Mrs. Sophia Flemming wish to thank all those who assisted at the time of the sickness and death of their mother.

IDEAL WEATHER FOR AUTO RUN

Twenty Gettysburg Automobiles with Half a Hundred Occupants Participate in First Sociability Run of the Season.

With ideal weather and road conditions ahead twenty cars driven by Gettysburg automobilists left the Square this afternoon starting at three o'clock on their first sociability run to Arendtsville and return.

In the twenty cars were about fifty local people representing a large proportion of the membership of the Gettysburg Automobile Club under whose auspices the event was held. The first car left the Square promptly at three o'clock and the others followed quickly at two minute intervals. Each car was given an hour to reach Arendtsville by way of Biglerville and no racing was allowed on the way.

It made no difference, however, how soon the cars reached Arendtsville provided they did not cross the checking line ahead of time and the majority of the cars reached the up-country town a little ahead of the sixty minute limit.

In addition to the three checking cars the machines owned by the following were in the run. George Eberhart, D. J. Forney, John McIlhenny, Clarence Redding, E. J. Golden, W. F. Gilliland, Edgar A. Crouse, Charles E. Rudisill, Pius A. Miller, E. M. Wolf, N. H. Musselman, Dr. J. P. Dalbey, J. Howard Hartley, C. A. Stoner, W. H. O'Neal, William H. Johns.

Supper was arranged for at the Mountain House, Arendtsville, and the machines were parked in the street immediately upon their arrival in that town.

CHART TO OPEN

The chart for "The King's Carnival" will open at the Wizard Theatre Thursday morning.

The carnival is brought by the Court Jester Walter Berger from all parts of the world to amuse the king. George Hartman, who is suffering from intense ennui, so thoroughly is the king entertained that he finally joins in the carnival himself with his queen Miss Alda Ocker and at the finish is as merry as the rest. One of the song hits is "I'm looking for a sweetheart" sung and acted by Miss Hazel Thorn and Edgar Miller with a chorus of twenty voices.

The best comedy feature will be the Chinese chorus with Mr. Zinn as soloist supported by a splendid chorus of twelve--each one an artist. The oriental costumes, clever acting and strong choruses make this number especially pleasing.

The "Cuddle" chorus with Mr. Reed as champion "cuddler" is decidedly novel and is taken as nearly as possible from the original number in "The Three Twins."

FAMILY POISONED BY CRACKERS

Two are seriously ill at the home of Jonas Haffner, near Mt. Alto, as the result of Paris green poison partaken in water crackers. Mrs. Haffner and a son ate the water crackers at the morning meal and in a short time became seriously ill.

The water crackers had been purchased at the McElroy store in Fayetteville and the mistake was not discovered until some time after the sale. Mr. McElroy quickly dispatched a man to warn the people of the poisoning but they had eaten some of the crackers before his arrival.

Dr. W. E. Holland was called and gave aid, at the same time Dr. Royer of the State Health Department arrived and gave assistance. Both are expected to recover.

UNCLAIMED LETTERS

The following letters remain unclaimed in the Gettysburg post office May 22, 1911:

Chas. Hereta, Mr. M. O. Heart, Mr. David Hocky, Mr. Eldridge Jones, Mr. Geo. J. Knab, C. R. McConkey, Mr. O. W. Prosser.

Parties calling for the above will please state that they were advertised. C. Wm. Beales, postmaster.

MR. MINTER SERIOUSLY ILL

David G. Minter president of the First National Bank, is very critically ill at his home in Arendtsville. He had partly recovered from his illness of several months ago and during the past ten days moved to Arendtsville where he was taken seriously ill the latter part of last week.

GENERAL agent wanted for Adams county. Energetic man to take exclusive agency for best vacuum cleaner. Quick seller; $200 monthly easily made. State age, past employment and reference. Moore and Company, Cor. Lemon and Pine streets, Lancaster, Pa.

BACCALAUREATE TO GRADUATES

Sermon to High School Seniors
Preached Sunday Evening by the Rev. Henry Anstadt. Synopsis of the Discourse.

The sermon to the graduating class of the Gettysburg High School was preached in College Church Sunday evening by Rev. Henry Anstadt who had for his text: "The trees went forth on a time to anoint a king over them; and they said unto the olive tree, Reign thou over us. But the olive tree said unto them, Should I leave my fatness, wherewith they honor God and man, and go to wave to and fro over the trees?" Judges 9: 8, 9. He said in part:

Tragic circumstances called forth this fable. It was spoken by Jotham, from the safe heights of Mt. Gerezim, in warning to the people who had chosen the bloody Abimelech to rule over them. He was a bramble king, ill adapted to occupy such position.

The humble olive tree refusing the kingship, illustrates our lesson: The wisdom of directing one's life in the course in which it is best adapted to serve. Self fulfillment is the measure of true success.

This assumes that there is a self to be fulfilled. God has a definite design for every life. Just as truly as Abram, Moses, Paul, Luther, Lincoln heard the divine call, so truly has he a special work for every life. Why not? Why should a few prominent characters indicate by their achievements that their lives have been planned by God, while all the great multitude have been given their lives to live hit or miss? The argument of design is one of the strongest proofs of the very existence of God. The olive tree is not adapted to rule; its special purpose is to bear olives, and so to honor God and man.

This principle of self fulfillment throws a new and better light upon success, having it not so much on achievement but on fidelity. To reign as king is the world's idea of success. The Master's idea is fidelity: "Well done, thou good and faithful servant." The word in the New Testament that is translated "sin" means "to miss the mark."

"Far better in its place the lowliest bird. Should sing aright to Him the lowliest song."

Than that a seraph strayed should take the word

And sing His glory wrong."

The important question is, "Am I doing what God wants me to do? Am I fulfilling my self?"

Then a further assurance: Self fulfillment brings the largest possibility of achievement. If you would accomplish great things, surely there is no better way than by doing that very thing for which you are best adapted. Many a rogue by a misuse of his shrewdness accomplishes his unworthy objects, but how incomparably greater his real success if his acuteness had been employed in worthy and God intended pursuits. The most important contribution to success is to know the definite purpose intended. Fortunate if you give serious thought to this at the starting of your course. What are you in the world for? To live the life God planned for you. In proportion as you bear witness to that sublime idea your life will be a success; in proportion as you do not, it will be a failure.

"Duties are pressing on me, and the time for work is brief; What if with purblind vision I neglect the very chief? What if I do with arid what a thousand could, maybe, And leave undone for ever what was meant for only me?"

SMALL POX AT MONT ALTO

Daniel Ickes, who has been doing odd jobs about Mont Alto and lives in the southern part of that town, was arrested in Waynesboro Saturday morning suffering from smallpox.

He was sent back to Mont Alto and quarantined. So far as known, he is the only victim of the malady in that place. The Ickes family moved to Mont Alto from Pond Bank several months ago and he is believed to have contracted the disease there.

CAMPUS FETE

On Saturday evening the college campus was the scene of the annual campus fete given for the benefit of the Young Men's Christian Association. Three large arc lights furnished the illumination and the College Band played during the evening. The net proceeds amounted to about $50.00.

DON'T miss the races of the Gettysburg Driving Club, Thursday, May 25th. Lots of horses and other attractions. Admission 25 cents.

RAISING SHOW STEERS.

How Young Bees Are Handled at Missouri University.

This short sketch shows how show steers are managed on the University of Missouri farm, writes Arthur Rhys, university herdsman, in American Agriculturist. The calves are allowed to run with their dams out in the pastures, weather permitting, until after the International. They are then brought in and placed in loose boxes opening into the tie stalls, where their mothers, real and foster, are fed twice daily. The babies are let out to them to nurse. The calves are then put back into the box stalls and fed in shallow boxes or pans placed on the ground.

That France raises big cattle was in evidence at the recent fat stock show in Paris, writes a correspondent of Breeder's Gazette. Forty-six animals averaged over a ton, and many more approached that figure. The largest of all was a four-year-old which tipped the beam at 2,717 pounds. He was a cross bred Short-horn-Charolais. The grand champion steer, whose portrait is shown, was a Charolais, the great beef breed of France. Bloody to a degree, of great width, with splendid spring of rib, he was a fine specimen of a beef animal.

This has a tendency to keep their backs strong. They are fed all they will eat of a mixture of ground oats, bran, corn and alfalfa meal and are turned into a yard to get sun and exercise from 10 until 3. They are then put back in the box stalls, where there are always clover hay and the mixture of grain for them to eat. The main idea of this treatment is to give plenty of fresh air and exercise and, when once they are filled up, to keep them full. The above treatment is practically kept up until they are taken out to the fall shows, excepting that they are turned out at night instead of day during the hot weather, at which time also they are washed frequently with cold water.

After the International those that are selected as being good prospects to show as yearlings are put in an open shed facing the south, where they are kept until they go out to the next fall shows, the idea still being lots of fresh air and sufficient exercise. Their ration is now gradually reduced and narrowed, and they are allowed the run of a good sized yard, where they have access to all the corn fodder they want and are fed twice daily a light feed composed of bran, oats, oil cake, a little corn and alfalfa meal and some clover hay.

This treatment is continued until grass comes. Then they have the run of a small pasture, are brought up twice a day, tied up and fed individually, so as to modify the ration to suit the needs of each animal, there being frequently considerable difference in their condition.

Success With Sheep.

Success in sheep husbandry is a gradual growth. It is best to begin with a few sheep and build up the flock as the experience may suggest and the farm keep them. Success does not come to the man without experience who jumps into the business on a considerable scale. Such cases usually result in losses and disappointment that following so soon after the flock is founded cause the owner to abandon his project. A few ewes being purchased and the selection of the breed determined, procure the best ram that can be obtained and you are ready to go into the business as it ought to be gone into.—Country Gentleman

PANAMA CANAL ABOUT THREE-FOURTHS DONE

Great Change Made in Seven Years Work.

Washington, May 22.—"Uncle Sam" has taken stock of what has been accomplished at Panama after seven years of hard work. May 4 ended the seventh year of canal construction by Americans.

Only one-fourth of the great task of excavation remains to be done, for the "ground hogs" have removed 138,000,000 cubic yards from the line of the canal. That leaves only 44,000,000 yards to be cut away.

The placing of the concrete in the locks is more than 52 per cent completed, the installing of the lock gates has begun and 70 per cent of the filling for the Gatun dam, which will feed the canal with water, has been done.

The lock gates are staggering in their vast proportions compared with the timber gates of the canals in this country. Each leaf, of which there are two in a gate, is 7 feet thick, 65 feet long and from 47 to 82 feet in height, there being no fewer than 92 of these leaves. Special hoisting machinery has been installed to place these masses of steel.

One of the unexpected obstacles in the construction was the development of twenty-two slides in the Culebra cut within a distance of nine miles, but it is stated that these will not delay the completion of the canal, as the earth can easily be removed by dredges after the water is turned on.

LIGHTNING CLEANS HOUSE

Pulls Tacks From Both Carpets and Linoleum.

York, Pa., May 22.—A stroke of lightning in a brief electrical storm which passed over Felton, this county, helped along the housecleaning at the home of Mrs. Michael G. Flinchbaugh. The bolt neatly pulled the tacks from the carpets and even from the linoleum in the kitchen. The room was filled with a haze-like smoke, and Mrs. Flinchbaugh and her mother and daughter were badly frightened, but unhurt.

Convict's Heroism Gets Him a Pardon

Des Moines, Ia., May 22.—The heroism of Joseph Howard, a convict from Howard county, who was doing time at Anamosa for forgery, has procured him a pardon from Governor Carroll. When the boiler in the Anamosa reformatory got beyond control and an explosion was threatened, Howard rushed through the clouds of escaping steam to the machinery and shut it off.

GRANTED ALL REBEL DEMANDS

Madero Shows Concessions Granted by Diaz.

HAS FAITH IN GOVERNMENT

Assures Insurrecto Army That Agreement Will Be Carried Out—Troops Leave Juarez For Casas Grandes.

El Paso, Tex., May 22.—Setting forth the concessions granted to the insurrecto army by the federals in their plan of settlement recently agreed to, Francisco I. Madero, provisional president of Mexico, issued another statement.

This statement is merely for the benefit of the public, which up to now has had only the newspaper accounts of negotiations for its satisfaction.

Madero shows the army that the cause has won all that it started fighting for; that Diaz has agreed to resign; Corral has agreed to resign, and that Mexico is to have a fair election for the first time since Diaz got into power. He also calls attention to the fact that all insurrecto debts are to be paid, even the I. O. U.'s given by the insurrectos when they seized stocks of goods. They never gave these to their old oppressor, Don Luis Terrazas. All concessions are summed up for the benefit of the insurrectos, whom the provisional president wishes to thoroughly pacify.

He tells them that he has such assurances that the agreement will be carried out that there is little room to discredit the faithfulness of the federals, but besides he says he is going to Mexico City on invitation of the federals to see that these things are carried out.

Madero told a good deal of this to the insurrectos Saturday, when he delivered a farewell to the officers and men in front of the Juarez monument, on one side of which stands the burned city hall and on the other the burned library, both destroyed during the assault on the town. But Sunday it was put on paper. The insurrectos had largely left, however, when it came out, but it will be sent them at Casas Grandes, where they are gathering in camp to await developments.

They are told by their leader that if all goes well they will soon be sent to their homes to return to the pursuits of peace, but if things do not go well, Chihuahua is next to be taken, and then the "on to Mexico City" cry can be taken up. He does not believe this will be necessary, however.

Six hundred troops were sent south from Juarez to Casas Grandes. They were carried in box cars and appeared happy. The rebel troops remaining behind to garrison the town gathered at the station and cheered them on their way. One carload of departing men were former federal soldiers who have now become faithful insurrectos. Those who did not embrace the insurrecto cause are now handling pick and shovel on the national line south of Juarez, repairing it through Chihuahua.

MARCHING ON CAPITAL

Rival Rebel Leader in Mexico Defies Madero.

Mexico City, May 22.—Fifteen thousand troops of General Ambrosio Figueroa are today operating in an offensive movement against Mexico City, in spite of the peace with Madero, and the city's danger is now greater than ever.

Figueroa for provisional president of Mexico, in place of Madero, seems to be the next move in Mexico's tangled affairs. Curnavaca must be captured before Mexico City can be invested, and Figueroa's force of well disciplined troops are now preparing the attack on that place, which cannot withstand them long. Then the march on the city itself will begin immediately.

His intention is to follow this plan, indicated by reports from the forces, was confirmed by the arrival of a messenger, who stated that he had been directed to say that Figueroa would attack Curnavaca without delay and then march to Mexico City.

Claude Ash, an Englishman, arrived in Mexico City from the rebel camp with the positive statement that Figueroa can place 15,000 men around Mexico City within ten days, and intends to do so.

As a further indication of bloodshed at Curnavaca the official Red Cross started an expedition for that place to care for the wounded in the expected fighting.

Wrecks Aeroplane; Escapes Unhurt.

Harrisburg, Pa., May 22.—Joseph Van Meter, the aviator, who has been trying out the flying machine perfected by M. B. Cumber, of this city, came to grief at Summerdale. He had made a number of short flights with success, and in attempting to land he dropped into a clump of bushes. A big stump wrecked the machine and threw the aviator into a bramble bush, but he escaped harm.

Owner of Auto Plant Dies.

Reading, Pa., May 22.—Joseph Middleby, Sr., owner of the Middleby automobile plant, died of paralysis at the Reading hospital, in his fifty-seventh year. He was a native of Boston and came to Reading several years ago.

ground oats from which the hulls have been sifted, which make one of the best feeds that can be secured. Whole oats are a very good feed for brood sows and add some bulk to the feed besides helping to furnish a well balanced ration. Whole oats scattered thinly on the ground or feeding floor make fine feed for brood sows. For fattening hogs oats are too bulky and high priced to give the best results and should not be depended upon for this purpose.

WOULD BUY GAME PRESERVE

Mrs. E. H. Harriman Negotiating For Whitney Property.

Washington, Mass., May 22.—Mrs. Edward H. Harriman is reported to be negotiating for Harry Payne Whitney's October mountain preserve, to develop which the late William C. Whitney spent a fortune.

The estate includes several thousand acres of land, and moose, deer and game birds abound within its confines.

It is understood that Mrs. Harriman desires the property for her daughter, Mrs. Charles Cary Sanger. Mr. and Mrs. Sanger spent their honeymoon at Antlers' Lodge, October mountain, last year.

More Postal Savings Banks.

Washington, May 22.—The postoffice department has designated fifty additional postal savings banks, making the total number established to date 226. ## DO TELL US.

Why is it when a woman sneezes a hen cannot throw as straight as gentlemen?

Is it because she has too many curves? That from her hand the missile always swerves.

Swats her poor husband in the eyes Or through the parlor window flies?

Why is it when the preacher's asked to dine His kind eye sparkles like rich ancient wine?

Does he have vision like prophetic seer That brings the distant chicken near? Say, can he smell roast rooster a whole year before The ax has spilled the cackling victim's gore?

Why is it, now, that poor old Johnny Slow Has never made the grocer business go?

Why do big cobwebs festoon all his shelves And rats and mice swarm out to help themselves?

Now tell me why that poor soul can't succeed Like yonder money making Billy Speed.

Well, dear, we'll answer this for you If you'll reply to questions one and two. Bill Speed believes in using printer's ink, And that's just why he's making piles of chink.

His store and goods are just the proper caper Because he advertises in this paper.

C. M. BARNITZ.

THE FARM HEN.

Mr. Bryan surely knows a good hen when he sees her. Listen to his flight: "I went out to the barnyard and took off my hat to the American hen, for her product is all over the world."

"That's what!" cackles Biddy.

"You're not like those city farmers at Washington who have hatched the fake that we rural cluckers lay but sixty eggs a year, sit most the time and don't know an egg from a door-knob."

Hats off, gentlemen, to the farm hen. She is Uncle Sam's chief poultry asset, does the most to make him a billion richer a year and would do even better if Farmer Cornsossel didn't let her forage in the corncrib, visit the grain mow, stuff on the thrashing floor and raid the granary.

She thus often gets too fat, doesn't lay so well because her egg machine is crowded with fat and doesn't lay so many winter eggs because fat makes her molt late, and she spends most of the winter growing a new gown. Most farm flocks are pure bred and well cared for notwithstanding certain cushion pressing poultry editors put the farm flock in the bum class and call the farmer a bughouse poultryman.

We advise such a city farmer to get the kink out of his think by a tour of the farms, to tickle his palate and astonish his inner man with chicken as only a farmer's wife can mature it and cook it.

Then, with his constitution full of bully bird, let him take the platform and pose as a poultry star at a farm-ers' institute, tell what he knows about poultry science and be cross examined by the "Rubes" present.

Will his think machine get a hot-box? Will he be knocked into the middle of next week? Yea, verily. He shall finally return to his cushion a sadder but a wiser man.

FEATHERS AND EGGSHELLS.

When a Mount Holly (N. J.) judge gave a chicken thief seven years he was certainly handing down some law to those false hair splitting judges who make a distinction between stealing a brass watch and a pure Silver Wyndotte-rooster.

When roasting a goose the cook need not add fat, as they furnish their own grease for baking. The man who carries an old gander must furnish his own elbow grease also, and lots of it.

Since meat products have gone so high much of the so called pure protein beef scrap has dropped down low in quality. Real beef scrap is brown in color, meaty and has little odor, and that like roast beef.

During the past year Pennsylvania produced 75,000,000 dozen of eggs. As she now stands second in population in the Union it is time for her to move up on poultry products. Think of all those people only raising 2,000,000 fowls!

On the first day of the Philadelphia show, where 5,000 birds were exhibited, there were 1,500 paid admissions. A lecture was delivered on "The Gentle Art of Being Honest." The roosters with false tails and painted plumage clapped and crowed approval when the speaker rapped the fakers.

When your fowls have an epidemic of bowel trouble and you find they are very lousy don't be profuse in the use of louse powder at such a time, as it may aggravate the trouble. Some powders cause louse conditions.

Much of the so called alfalfa sold in the east as first grade western product smells about as much like the original as the odor of a skunk cabbage resembles that of a rose.

In feeding cut clover sift out the coarse stems, as these are apt to cause hard crop. If hens do not have clover, alfalfa or greens they will eat straw, leaves, long hay or even excelsior to offset the hard grain feed. Such filler is killer.

It is quite interesting to read the descriptions of alfalfa and its easy culture in certain seed catalogues. Some of our eastern farmers who bought seed and sowed it on wornout hillides have found its growth a decidedly uphill job.

Sprouted oats is excellent green food, but it should not be allowed to grow too long. If not crisp and tender when fed it mats in the crop, and the fowl can only be saved by an operation.

Little ducks do love lettuce and tender sprouted oats, which make them able to snap them with a camera.

SAGE AND SULPHUR CURES DANDRUFF

Restores Faded and Gray Hair to Natural Color—Itching Scalp Quickly Stopped.

This applies to Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, for if it does not do exactly what is claimed for it, the sales would naturally drop off. However, Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy does "make good," as evidenced by its daily increasing sales. Druggists say that this preparation gives the best satisfaction of any hair remedy ever sold. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is clean and wholesome and perfectly harmless. It removes dandruff, strengthens the hair, gives new life to dull or parched hair, and gradually restores gray hair to natural color.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

AIRSHIP KILLS WAR MINISTER

Dashes Into Group of French Cabinet Officers.

PREMIER BADLY INJURED

Aeroplane Becomes Unmanageable and Crashes to the Ground — Premier Monis Probably Fatally Hurt.

Paris, May 22.—Henri Maurice Berthelette, minister of war, was killed, and Antoine Ernest Monis, premier and minister of the interior, was probably mortally injured as the result of an accident at the start of the Paris to Madrid aviation race at the drill ground at Issy les Moulineaux.

Fifty thousand French people, with the holiday spirit and in holiday attire, awaited the start. The first away was Naval Lieutenant Conneau. He was followed by Roland G. Garos, who in turn was followed by Gilbert. All were using Bleriot machines. The crowd was cheering the men who had got away, when Train, the new aviator, was seen approaching the drill ground with a passenger, Bonnier, in his machine. He was flying a steel monoplane, built and patented by himself, and as he circled to try his motor it was to be seen that something was wrong.

As Train arose, the premier, the minister of war and other notables, not being able to see from the stand of honor, moved nearer to the starting line. The crowd followed. The crash was tremendous, and it was necessary to call for another squadron of cuirassiers to ride upon and keep back the throng.

Train was shutting off his motor and preparing to alight directly over the horsemen as they rode upon the field. In order to avoid striking them, Train shot into the air again. He was unable to see the group of notables just on the other side of the horsemen.

Having cleared the cuirassiers, Train slanted toward the earth again and dashed headlong into the crowd beyond. Minister of War Berthelette was dead ahead of the machine. The propeller caught his right arm, which he had raised to ward off the blow, and in a second had torn the member from the body. M. Berthelette was killed instantly.

Premier Monis was buried beneath the machine and was unconscious when lifted from the ground. Both bones of his right leg and all of the bones of his nose were broken, his scalp was frightfully torn, and upon examination it was found that he was suffering from internal injuries in the abdominal region. He was carried at once to his home.

The body of the dead war minister was taken to the ministry. The torn arm was sewed on and the body was embalmed.

Premier Monis is reported to be bearing up bravely, and though suffering intensely he nevertheless insisted on signing several urgent state papers and, although the race was ordered discontinued, M. Monis commanded that it go on.

Such was the feeling, however, that the committee in charge of the race stopped it at once. The contest, which had been organized by a Paris newspaper, was for prizes aggregating $40,000.

The first stage was to have been from Issy, about one and a half miles out of Paris, via Angoulême, 250 miles to San Sebastian. In order to negotiate the last 348 miles from the latter point to Madrid the aviators have to ascend 3000 feet and cross the Pyrenees.

Weyman, who has taken many aviation honors, was the only American entered.

HONOR VICTIMS OF FIRE

Monument Erected to Unnamed Dead in Boyertown Holocaust.

Boyertown, Pa., May 22.—A massive monumental sarcophagus was erected in Fairview cemetery to perpetuate the memory of the twenty-five unidentified dead who lost their lives on Jan. 13, 1908, in the opera house fire, during which 171 persons lost their lives.

The bottom base is ten feet long and five feet wide, weighing six tons; the second base is eight feet long, and the die six feet eight inches long, weighing five tons. All the names of the unidentified dead are cut into the base granite in raised letters.

The money for the monument was raised by the families and friends of those who perished. There will be no special unveiling.

AGED NEGRO MINISTER LYNCHED BY MOB

He Shot Deputy Marshal While Resisting Arrest.

Swainsboro, Ga., May 22.—Rev. Benjamin Smith, the aged leader of the negro race in this section, was hanged to the limb of a tree and his body riddled with bullets by a mob of white men because he had wounded Deputy Marshal Canady.

Smith had trouble with his young wife, and the latter had complained to the authorities. Canady went to the Smith house to arrest the preacher. The latter resisted and shot the officer, inflicting a serious wound.

Smith fled, but was pursued with bloodhounds and was captured in a swamp near the town, brought back and hanged to a tree in sight of his home.

Smith was very old, being white-headed and toothless, but for years his word had been law to the negro population. He was noted for his oratory.

While the mob was chasing Smith unknown parties dynamited the negro Odd Fellows hall, entirely destroying the building.

The lynching and the use of dynamite have terrorized the negroes and any fear feeling. A general exodus is threatened, which will work great damage to the planters.

SWALLOWS NICKEL; DIES

Gift of Friend Causes Death of Little Girl.

Philadelphia, May 22.—As the result of having swallowed a nickel that had been given her as a present, two-year-old Elizabeth Morrison, of 2534 North Howard street, died in the Episcopal hospital.

About three weeks ago little Elizabeth and her brothers and sisters were each given a nickel by a friend who had been visiting the family. The other children promptly invested their present in candy, but Elizabeth refused to part with her shining gift and continued to play with it.

Later in the day the child's mother heard the little girl gasping and choking in an alarming manner, and at once surmised what had happened. She afforded temporary relief to the child by patting her on the back, which caused the coin to pass safely down the throat.

The mother then took the girl to the Episcopal hospital, where she was treated. For a few days she seemed to be all right, but the coin had lodged in the intestines, and she was again taken to the hospital.

When all other means had failed it was decided that an operation would be necessary to save the child's life. The operation was successfully performed and the coin removed. Again for a time the child got along nicely and it was thought she would recover. But pneumonia set in and the end quickly came.

Missing Girl's Body In Canal.

Chicago, May 22.—A search, which had lasted for more than a month, for Elsie Paroubek, five years old, supposed to have been kidnapped by gypsies, ended with the recovery of her body in the drainage canal near Lockport, Ill. The place where the body was recovered is nearly thirty-five miles from the child's home. The body was probably carried down the stream from near the child's home.

Drowns on His Birthday.

Sellingsgrove, Pa., May 22.—Celebrating his fourteenth birthday by taking his first swim of the season, James Erdley, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Erdley, of Monroe township, was seized with cramps and drowned in Penns creek. George Erdley, the lad's older brother, almost lost his own life in a heroic effort at rescue.

BOSS COX RETIRES FROM POLITICS

Republican Leader in Cincinnati Quits.

RESULT OF INDIGMENTS

Julius Fleischmann, the Millionaire Yeast Manufacturer, May Succeed Him—Retirement of Cox Caused a Sensation.

Cincinnati, May 22.—George B. Cox has retired again from the leadership of the Republican party in this city. This will bring Julius Fleischmann, the millionaire yeast manufacturer, forward as Cox's successor. August Hermann and "Rud" Hynicka will also drop out of the organization.

Cox favors Fleischmann as the "man who has done more for his party than any other in Ohio." Cox admits that his retirement is the result of the indictments brought against him.

Cox, spurred by the conviction that the supremacy of the Republican party in Hamilton county, and possibly in the state of Ohio, required his retirement, resolved to remove himself as an issue and a factor of contention not alone in his own party, but between the two great rival parties. In his statement Mr. Cox said in part:

"I take this opportunity publicly to announce my withdrawal from active politics. I have faithfully served the people through the Republican party for twenty-six years. Henceforth I shall devote myself to business and my own comfort."

On two previous occasions at least Mr. Cox has made similar announcements, but subsequently returned to the leadership of his party. When questioned on this point, he said:

"Other announcements of my retirement were made in good faith insofar as I myself was concerned. On both occasions circumstances over which I had no control compelled me to reassume a leadership which I would very gladly have laid down. On this occasion, however, my decision to retire is irrevocable."

"It is apparent to me that were I to remain actively engaged in politics I would become an issue, not only between the Republican and Democratic parties, but in my own party as well. Such a condition would be dangerous to Republican success, and there is nothing nearer to my heart than the success of my party."

The retirement of Mr. Cox a few months in advance of an important impending municipal election will cause a great scurrying about in the Republican camp. Some months ago, when it was rumored that Mr. Cox might remove to New York to take up his residence, there was widespread discussion of the probable successor to the Republican leader.

RUN DOWN BY AEROPLANE

Woman Asks $5000 Damages in First Suit of Kind.

Dayton, O., May 22.—There was filed here a damage suit which is said to be the first of the kind ever brought in any court in the world.

Sadie Fuller, of Oshkosh, Wis., filed suit in the common pleas court against the Wright Brothers' company, asking $5000 for personal injuries received in being run down by an aeroplane.

She says she was injured in Milwaukee in 1910, when a piece of Arch Hoxsey's machine dropped, striking her on the head.

Through negligence, it is charged, the propeller suddenly ceased to work, and the machine, when only forty feet in the air, swooped down upon the spectators. Miss Fuller sustained a broken nose and other damages about the face and body.

RAISES ANNEXATION CRY

Earl of Selborne Sees Peril in Reciprocity Agreement.

London, May 22.—The Earl of Selborne has given "little Englanders" something to think about by a speech in the house of lords, in which he severely criticised the government for "extraordinary supineness" in "failing to safeguard the interests of the United Kingdom" in the American-Canada reciprocity agreement.

"It is the first time in the history of the empire," he pointed out, "that one part has obtained from a foreign country better terms than those granted to the mother country."

He argued that it was a short step from giving and receiving such terms to actual annexation.

Family of Four Killed.

Newark, O., May 22.—An entire family of four was killed seven miles west of the city at Voorhees lane, when an Interurban car, running at a high rate of speed, crashed into a horse and buggy, in which Dennis Dodson, his wife Helen and their daughters, Helen, aged seven, and Edith, five years old, were driving to the home of a friend.

Massachusetts "Tech" Gets $1,000,000.

Boston, May 22.—Governor Foss has signed the bill by which the Massachusetts Institute of Technology is to be given $1,000,000 state aid annually for ten years, beginning Jan. 1, 1912. The institute binds itself to maintain eighty free scholarships in return for the state assistance.

A CRITICAL POSITION

By VERNON ARNOLD

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

During the Franco-Prussian war a division occupying a strategic point in Alsitia under General Puffenheim was encamped in a pleasant valley in which there were scattered dwellings.

Officers' wives were not allowed to accompany the army, and General Puffenheim was a great stickler for the enforcement of this order. He was an old bachelor, and a crusty one at that. Women aroused in him a satanic ire.

Half a mile down the road from the general's headquarters was a house which had been abandoned by the French family who occupied it on the approach of the Germans. One day Captain Schwab and Captain Henner, two young officers of the staff who had left brides in Germany, passed this house.

"What a scheme it would be, Schwab, if we could bring our wives here and put them in that house."

"Old Puff would rout them out before they had been there six hours and we would be court-martialed."

Later the two officers decided to make the experiment. When their wives appeared they brought with them Fraulein Lena Borgeisser, a sister of Mrs. Henner. Fraulein Borgeisser was a very beautiful and otherwise attractive woman. Indeed, she was the belle of Stuttgart, where she lived, half the men there being in love with her.

One day General Puffenheim rode past the house just as Frau Schwab was calling in excellent German to Frau Henner, who was leaning out of an upper window. The general reined in his horse.

"Captain," he said to Schwab, who was attending him at the time, "there are German women in that house. The people about here are all French. That house is deserted by its occupants when we came here. I know that, for I thought of making it my headquarters. That woman—or lady—speaks German. I should not be surprised if some of our officers have been bringing their wives here."

Now, the two ladies had seen the general rein in his horse and survey them like a thundercloud. Mrs. Schwab went into the house, and Mrs. Henner disappeared from the window. The general spurred his horse to the gate, dismounted and, directing his aid to follow him, stalked up to the house. The two wives sent Fraulein Borgeisser to receive him. Captain Schwab stood back and put his finger to his lip, looking knowingly at the young lady as a signal that she must give away nothing and not recognize him. She received the general with a most engaging smile.

"Ah, mein Herr General!" she exclaimed enthusiastically. "How glad we are to see troops from the fatherland. I hope you have come to redeem our fair Alsitia and bring it under the rule from which it was originally torn."

The general had approached the house like a lion; he entered it like a lamb. The fraulein made up a plausible story accounting for the house being occupied by Germans, invited him and his aid to be seated and chattered like a magpie. Indeed, she talked so volubly that the general had but little opportunity to ask questions which would have shown the weak spot in her story. When he rose to depart she pressed him to come again and would not consent to his going until he had promised to do so.

The result of this reception was that the next day the general set off attended only by a single orderly and made a call on Fraulein Borgeisser. The same evening the two captains of his staff stole away and called upon their wives. The party discussed the matter of the general's visits anxiously, for if he should discover what was going on the officers' commissions would not be worth the parchment they were printed on. All agreed that their safety depended on the skill with which the fraulein kept the general from getting the facts.

The young lady was equal to the occasion. She threw a spell around the elderly bachelor, going so far as to elicit a proposal. This she held in abeyance until she could consult her heart and her parents. The general was forced to wait.

A climax came at last. One morning the officer of the day announced to the general that the wives of two of his officers were living in close proximity to the camp.

"Where? Who has disobeyed the order in this matter?" snapped the general.

"The house is a white one with four pillars in its front. It is the first house on the right beyond the stream."

The general stood looking at the officer without speaking for a time, then found voice to ask:

"Whose wives are there?"

"The wives of Captains Schwab and Henner."

The general staggered. "The matter will be attended to," he gasped. "That will do."

Fortunately for all concerned the division of General Puffenheim was ordered to march to Paris the next morning or there might have been an upheaval that would have gone hard with the two captains and might have made the commander the laughing-stock of the army. He never saw Fraulein Borgeisser again, and his animosity toward the gentler sex finally occasioned a stroke of apoplexy, from which he died.

THE PREVENTION OF SORE SHOULDERS

At this time of the year, when the horses are working hard plowing and preparing the land for the crops, sore shoulders and sore necks often become very troublesome. While some horses have very tender shoulders and are hard to keep free from sores, yet many such sores are caused by poorly fitted collars.

Since the service of the horse is largely accomplished by the shoulders it is of the utmost importance that the collar fit the neck and shoulders properly. Fitting the collar is rather a difficult task. In the manufacture of collars the leather is soaked until it is as limp as a rag and then is fitted over a steel form representing the shape of the horse's neck. When dry these collars are so firm and stiff that usually it is impossible to buckle the harness tight enough to bring them to the shape of the animal's neck, and the shoulders are therefore adjusted to the collar rather than the collar to the shoulders, with sore shoulders as the result. It is therefore necessary, to avoid this soreness, that a stiff collar be adjusted to the shoulders of the horse for which it is intended.

To adjust the collar to the horse's shoulder take the poorly fitted collar, new or old, place in three inches of water and let it remain overnight. In the morning put the collar on the horse and with hame straps draw it snugly to the sides of the neck. Be sure that the hame straps are properly adjusted, then work the horse moderately through the day. After soaking in this way the collar will adjust itself to every inequality of the shoulders, and the horse will seldom be troubled with soreness.

Since the shoulders of no two horses are alike, each horse should have his own collar. The collar should be watched closely, as a collar that will fit in the early spring when the horse is fat will be too large later when he is worked down. While the advisability of using sweat pads is a much discussed question, yet if the collar is too large such pads may prevent soreness.

The collar should be kept scrupulously clean at all times. It is not possible to prevent sore shoulders if the collars are permitted to become dirty, which they will, because of the sweat and dandruff, unless they are carefully watched and regularly cleaned. Much care should be taken to clean the collar before harnessing in the morning, or, better still, immediately after removing the harness in the evening.—M. W. Harper, Cornell University.

About Slobbering Horses.

Horses that slobber excessively are not only weakened thereby, but they are also very unpleasant to work or drive during windy days on account of the discharge from the mouth blowing in the driver's face or on his clothing.

There are several causes for slobbering. Colts between two and four years old are apt to slobber while teething or when becoming accustomed to the bits in their mouths. A foreign substance lodged in the mouth usually causes slobbering. Irregular teeth quite often cause an extra secretion of saliva. An inflammation of the mouth or tongue caused by the administration of strong drugs will produce an excessive flow of saliva. Then some kinds of food, such as fresh second crop clover, will cause an excessive flow of saliva.

In order to correct trouble of this kind the first thing to do is to ascertain the cause. If irregular teeth are responsible they should be filed off. If the food is the cause change the feed at once. If caused by giving strong drugs apply sweet oil to the mouth. In the case of colts wash out the mouth four times a day with a preparation of one ounce of powdered alum dissolved in a quart of water. This wash may also be used in cases caused by irregular teeth or by the feed if the animal does not quickly recover when these causes are remedied.—W. Purdue.

Shoe Boils.

My remedy for this trouble in horses is very simple, but has proved so effective I cannot refrain from giving it writes E. M. Bacon in Farm and Fire side.

I make a saturated solution of good strong vinegar and saltpeter and rub the boil with it twice each day. It will begin to decrease in size in a few days and if continued for a short time will entirely vanish. This is better, I think for the horse than cutting into the cyst with a lance or applying a blister, and I have found it very effective.

Dairy Notes.

Don't stint the cows on salt. It's cheap.

The sale of so many thousands of young calves annually is an alarming feature of the dairy situation.

The profit making trio in the dairy farm's equipment—the cream separator, the manure spreader and the silo. It is the general average of the herd that decides the profit and not the returns from one or two of the best cows.

When cows get pretty well along in the period of lactation the churning does not come as readily as when they are fresh.

Under the present conditions the most profitable dairy cow seems to be the one that helps to make the most butter in the winter.

Clipping Horses.

Clipping is not commonly practiced and may not be generally advisable. However, there are cases where it is justifiable. Many horses grow a long, heavy coat during the winter. When they are put to work the coat holds heat, retains the sweat and after the horse has stopped work may cause chills. Sometimes long, heavy hair will not dry out entirely all night. Clipping would prevent all the evils attendant upon long hair. However, it has dangers of its own. A horse sud-

PRACTICAL CO-OPERATION.

What the Farmers Are Doing in the Line of Co-operative Endeavor.

During the past season the grange exchange of Connecticut has handled and distributed many carloads of potatoes shipped to them by grange members in Aroostook county, Me.

The Scottish co-operator is now buying his wheat from the Canadian farmer, taking it into his own elevators, shipping it to his own mills in Scotland, baking it in his own bakeries and distributing it in his own co-operative stores.

The Patrons' Co-operative bank of Olathe, Kan., now nearly thirty years old, officered and run by members of the grange and with their own money, reports deposits of $450,000, with $1,000 more profits than the year before, paying a semiannual dividend of 15 per cent and adding a neat sum to the undivided profits or surplus.

The Rochdale (England) system of co-operation, first started by a few poor weavers long years ago, has extended until Great Britain now has 2,500,000 members, with 5,000 stores, ships, factories, banks, mills, etc., $200,000,000 in capital, $500,000 annual business and returns about $70,000,000 annually to their members as their savings through co-operation.

The parcels post system in Canada, with large territory to be covered and a population much less than the United States to furnish the patronage, is a paying success, bringing a revenue above all expenses. The grange will never let up in its efforts until our farmers and other citizens enjoy this privilege, which twenty-two other civilized countries have.

SAMPLE OF CO-OPERATION.

Figures Showing What Farmers Can Do by Working Together.

If there ever was a good illustration of "team work" among farmers the report of the Turner Center (Me.) Dairying association is it. The figures given herewith show operations for thirteen months ending Jan. 1, 1911: The total receipts for butter, cream, milk, dry cured and cheese curd were $1,435,225.62. The receipts for eggs, trade and miscellaneous, brought the annual income up to $1,650,434.66. They paid patrons $1,433,329.95 for cream and milk and $62,023.83 for eggs. Their total expenditures were $1,645,025.25. They added $4,809.41 to their surplus. The company has a capital stock issued and outstanding of $75,000. It has total assets of $303,873.72 and current assets amounting to $34,381.52. The creamery has purchased 26,182,618 pounds of milk and cream. It has paid for 3,326,645 pounds of butter fat at an average price for the whole time of 34 1/2 cents. It has also paid an average of 36 1/2 cents a hundredweight for the milk in addition to the amount paid for butter fat. It paid farmers $70,915.00 for cream delivered in December. Contemplating these figures, there seems to be no need of the dairy business languishing in Maine.

MAINE STATE GRANGE.

Executive Committee Opposes Repeal of Prohibitory Law.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Maine state grange held a short time ago at Lewiston sweeping resolutions were adopted and a campaign outlined against the repeal of the Maine prohibitory law. At its annual meeting the state grange took strong action against the repeal, and now the executive committee is seeking to put the resolutions of the state grange into effect.

It is proposed to co-operate with and assist the churches, Civic league, W. C. T. U. organizations and other temperance societies in their efforts to retain the present law, and with all these agencies combating any movement to repeal it there is good reason to believe that their efforts will be successful.

At the meeting of the executive committee it was voted to hold a series of field meetings this summer throughout the state. The next state grange meeting will probably be held at Lewiston.

Henrietta Grange Burns Mortgage. In the fall of 1903 Henrietta (N. Y.) grange built a hall, 36 by 72 feet and two stories above the basement, which would compare favorably with the best halls in the state. The cost, including the furnishings, was about $8,000, and nearly one-half of the amount was raised by voluntary contributions and a mortgage given on the property. The last cent of the indebtedness was recently paid, and the mortgage was burned Thursday evening, April 20. This grange has raised in the last six years for all purposes $11,818.

Granges Lend Valuable Aid.

The subordinate granges of Columbia county, N. Y., contributed nearly $200 in cash, besides many supplies, to the Hudson City hospital the past year. Granges in every county should lend material aid to some such worthy institution.

Memorial day (May 30) is quite generally observed by the subordinate granges. Every grange should have an appropriate program for the meeting nearest that date.

Deny removal of his long coat is very sensitive to exposure and chilly breezes. If he is clipped the driver will have to be extremely careful to blanket well whenever the team is stopped and to work the horse in a blanket if the weather turns cold. With a good, careful driver clipping may be safely done, and more satisfactory service will result.

Proper Horse Equipment.

Good, strong harnesses and durable farm implements increase the efficiency of the work horses. The horse that

GOT HOME AND HEALTH.

Wornout City Man Found Life For Family in Wornout Farm.

This is an article not only for farmers, but for the tired out city man who sees nothing in the future but failure and destitution. It also shows that any one with a little capital, good common sense and practical energy can solve the problem of making the farm pay. It is condensed from a department of agriculture bulletin prepared by Scientific Assistant John H. Arnold.

The father of a family was in 1892 sixty years old and so worn out by the business struggle that he had to abandon all work. He had a wife and ten children, seven of them boys, all less than twenty-one years old. He had $10,000 and with it bought a 300 acre rundown farm in Pennsylvania and started the first year $8,679 in debt. Then the whole family went vigorously and intelligently to work.

After seventeen years, during which time all the children had been educated at college and a beautiful home built, the farm books at the end of 1909 showed the place to be worth $39,169 and the net income for the year $5,197.61.

The father is happy and healthy and at seventy-seven supervises every detail of the farm; the wife, who has never kept a servant, is hale and hearty; two sons are lawyers, one is a minister, one a professor, one a civil engineer and one a farmer, but the first five are putting their savings into nearby farms which they will later farm themselves.

Imitation of a neighbor's good methods is not only sincere flattery, but is in the direct line of personal progress.

TOBACCO CULTURE SPREADING

Department of Agriculture Shows It Can Be Grown in Many States.

To farmers having an extra acre on which they would like to clear up an extra $1,000 income per year the growing of tobacco is recommended. Of course it requires hard and careful work, but the reward is so great that

MAIL TO THE DASHEEN.

It's a New Royal Relative to the Potato and Will Grow in Marshy Land.

The great event in the recent annual dinner in Washington of the National Geographic society was the ushering into the gastronomic world of a new delatant, the dasheen, which was served stuffed in place of the orthodox potato. The cordial welcome given to this new arrival by the 500 guests present at the dinner has a distinct economic significance to the proprietors of lands that are too wet for any thing but ducks and rice.

The dasheen is a tuber of chemical content similar to that of the potato, and it has for many centuries been a staple crop and article of food in China, Japan, the Pacific Islands, Africa and the West Indies.

In appearance it resembles an undersized coconut, having a similar reddish brown color and a coating of fine, short, hairy fibers. The tubers average about the size of a duck's egg.

Here are some of the impressions overheard of the dasheen: "Artichoke flavor," "like salsify," "sweet potato without sugar," "halfway between a sweet and a white potato," "a sort of gummy potato," "texture mucilaginous," "reminds me of a potato cooked with cheese," "decided improvement over potatoes grown on river bottom land."

The commercial prospects of the dasheen are signified by the fact that two large metropolitan hotels have entered orders for as large a portion of the 1911 crop as can be spared.

has a well-fitted and properly adjusted harness can do more and better work than one that is compelled to wear a poorly fitted, dilapidated harness to annoy and irritate him every step he takes while at work. Strong and durable implements reduce breakage to a minimum and avoid delays required to make repairs during the busy season. Fly nets are necessary during the summer if the horses are to hold their flesh and the drivers their temper. They are not an expensive luxury and will last a long time if well cared for.

A Great Physician

What He Said of Germs that Cause Disease.

M. Pasteur, sometimes called the Great-est Physician often said "I believe that we shall one day rid the world of all diseases that are caused by germs."

Of all the diseases caused by germs, catarrh is one of the most persistent and loathsome. Catarrh can be cured, but only by destroying the germs.

Breathe HYOMEI (pronounce it High-omei) and cure catarrh by killing the germs. The HYOMEI method is the only sensible method, because you breathe the highly antiseptic and germ killing air directly over the entire membrane infested with catarrh germs.

HYOMEI will cure catarrh. There may be some complicated cases where it will fail, but the chance are ten to one in its favor, and the sufferer from catarrh takes no risk, because HYOMEI is a guaranteed remedy, and if it doesn't cure People's Drug Store will refund the purchase price.

HYOMEI will also give instant relief and cure in bronchitis, coughs, colds and croup. A complete outfit, including hand rubber pocket inhaler, costs only $1.00. If you own a Hyomei inhaler you can get a bottle of HYOMEI for 50 cents.

There is probably no product or by-product of the farm that furnishes protein in a more palatable or valuable form than skim milk. Especially is this the case when considering rations for calves, pigs and poultry. It is because of this fact that dairying has so much to commend it as a type of farming and why hog raising dovetails in with it so nicely as a profitable side line. Under such system of management there is carried out very simply and effectively a type of conservation which means more to the permanent welfare of the country than any of the somewhat spectacular and faraway but no less worthy forms of conservation which are just now engaging public attention. Dairying means conservation of soil fertility for the simple reason that with a ton of butter worth $600 there is removed from the farm but 50 cents' worth of fertilizing elements, while in the case of raw products like corn, oats and wheat it runs from $12 to $16 worth.

He Wouldn't Bribe Them.

One of the cleverest bits of election-eering dodgery engineered in England was devised by an agent who had been forbidden to corrupt the electors. He called a meeting and attended with his pockets full of gold. "I have to inform you, gentlemen," he began, "that there is to be no bribery on our side during this election. (Hear, hear.) For my part I do not intend to give away a penny piece. (Uneasy silence.) But I am afraid there are some d—d rascals in this room and that presently they will lay me on the table and take 500 sovereigns out of my pockets." The next few minutes he spent upon the table.
